«DOCC-2016 was a world-class conference set in a unique, inspiring setting. The list of speakers included the top names in Organic Chemistry from all over the world (from ~30 countries!). Not surprisingly, their lectures presented cutting-edge world-class science and led to many interesting discussions.

The conference was very well-planned and offered ample opportunities for informal discussions and networking. I was also impressed by the large number of young scientists who participated in the meeting. Not only had they the opportunity to learn directly from the world best experts in their field but they had also a chance to present their own research to the critical audience.

A particular inspiration was the awe-inspiring breathtaking beauty of the mountains augmented by the famous Caucasian hospitality.

In summary, DOCC-2016 is easily the most memorable out of the >50 conferences that I have attended in the last 10 years. World class science, icy mountain tops and glaciers, white rivers, natural mineral springs, cultural exchanges – a rich and unforgettable experience!»

Дорогие коллеги,
Большое спасибо за прекрасно организованную конференцию и теплый и радушный прием на Домбае. Конференция была действительно высшего мирового класса, как с точки зрения научного содержания и участников, так и по социально-культурной программе. Желаю вам и в дальнейшем держать эту высокую планку, и продолжать демонстрировать достойный уровень российской науки.

«I am writing to express my deepest appreciation for the wonderful DOCC conference you helped organize under the formal leadership of Profs. Valentine Nenajdenko and Alexander Aksenov. It has to go on record, as I have told you and anyone who will listen, as one of the best conferences I have ever attended. I have organized dozens of conferences and symposia myself and attended hundreds of others. So, this is high praise indeed. What made the meeting so special was first and foremost the people. It was a small, but wonderful collection of top scientists from abroad, ex-pat Russians, and those like you who have made or are making their careers in Russia. The mix of languages, cultures, and science was spectacular. So, was the venue. Dombay, where the meeting was held, has to be one of the more spectacular locales in the world. It rivals the nicest spots I know in Switzerland and is made even more special by the fact that it is remote and hence not overrun with tourists. The logistics of getting to such a distant spot were handled well, although I could tell it wasn't easy on you and other organizers. But, all went flawlessly, including the exciting and informative social aspects of the program. The latter, which included a remarkable open dance floor with folks from 16 to 80 out dancing together, really helped bring all participants together as a "chemical family". All in all a wonderful conference and once in a lifetime event. You and others associated with the organization should feel justifiably proud!"
